Twenty Minutes with the President

Reported by Charlie Sheen

I recently had the pleasure of sitting down with our 44th President of the United States of America, Barack Hussein Obama, while he was out promoting his health care reform initiative. I requested 30 minutes given the scope and detail of my inquiry; they said I could have 20. Twenty minutes, 1200 seconds, not a lot of time to question the President about one of the most important events in our nation's history. The following is a transcript of our remarkable discussion.

- Charlie Sheen Good afternoon Mr. President, thank you so much for taking time out of your demanding schedule.
- President Barack Obama My pleasure, the content of your request seemed like something I should carve out a few minutes for.
- CS I should point out that I voted for you, as your promises of hope and change, transparency and accountability, as well as putting government back into the hands of the American people, struck an emotional cord in me that I hadn't felt in quite some time, perhaps ever.
- PBO And I appreciate that, Charlie. Big fan of the show, by the way.
- CS Sir, I can't imagine when you might find the time to actually watch my show given the measure of what you inherited.
- PBO I have it Tivo'd on Air Force One. Nice break from the traveling press corps. (He glances at his watch) Not to be abrupt or to rush you, but you have 19 minutes left.
- CS I'll take that as an invitation to cut to the chase.
- PBO I'm all ears. Or so I've been told.
- CS Sir, in the very near future we will be experiencing our first 9/11 anniversary with you as Commander in Chief.

- PBO Yes. A very solemn day for our nation. A day of reflection and yet a day of historical consciousness as well.
- CS Very much so, sir, very much so indeed.... Now, in researching your position regarding the events of 9/11 and the subsequent investigation that followed, am I correct to understand that you fully support and endorse the findings of the Commission Report otherwise known as the 'official story'?
- PBO Do I have any reason not to? Given that most of us are presumably in touch with similar evidence.
- CS I really wish that were the case, sir. Are you aware, Mr. President, of the recent stunning revelations that sixty percent of the 9/11 commissioners have publicly stated that the government agreed not to tell the truth about 9/11 and that the Pentagon was engaged in deliberate deception about their response to the attack?
- PBO I am aware of certain "in fighting" during the course of their very thorough and tireless investigative process.
- CS Mr. President, it's hard to label this type of friction as "in fighting" or make the irresponsible leap to "thorough," when the evidence I insist you examine regarding 6 of the 10 members are statements of fact.
 - (At this point one of Obama's senior aides approaches the President and whispers into his ear. Obama glances quickly at his watch and nods as the aide resumes his post at the doorway, directly behind me.)
- PBO No disrespect, Mr. Sheen, but I have to ask; what is it that you seem to be implying with the initial direction of this discussion?
- CS I am not implying anything, Mr. President. I am here to present the facts and see what you plan to do with them.
- PBO Let me guess: your 'facts,' allegedly supporting these claims, are in the folders you brought with you?
- CS Good guess, Mr. President.

(I hand the first folder of documents to the President)

CS - Again sir, these are not my opinions or assumptions. This is all a matter of public record, reported through mainstream media, painstakingly fact checked and verified.

(The President glances into the folder I handed him)

- CS You'll notice, sir, on page one of the dossier dated August of '06 from the Washington Post, the statements of John Farmer, Senior Council to the 9/11 Commission, his quote stating "I was shocked how different the truth was from the way it was described."
- PBO (As he glances down at the report, almost inaudible) Um hmm....
- CS He goes on to further state, "The [NORAD Air Defense] tapes told a radically different story from what had been told to us and the public for two years...."

(The President continues to view the documents)

- CS On pages two and three, sir, are the statements, as well, from commission co-chairmen Thomas Kean and Lee Hamilton, commissioners Bob Kerrey, Timothy Roemer and John Lehman, as well as the statements of commissioner Max Cleland, an exSenator from Georgia, who resigned, stating:
- "It is a national scandal. This investigation is now compromised. One of these days we will have to get the full story because the 9/11 issue is so important to America. But this White House wants to cover it up."
- He also described President Bush's desire to delay the process as not to damage the '04 re-election bid. They suspected deception to the point where they considered referring the matter to the Justice Department for criminal investigation. Mr. President, this information alone is unequivocally grounds for a new investigation!
- PBO Mistakes were clearly made but we as a people and as a country need to move forward. It is obviously in our best interest as a democratic society to focus our efforts and our resources on the future of this great nation and our ability to protect the American - people and our allies from this type of terrorism in the coming years.

- CS Sir, how can we focus on the future when THE COMMISSION ITSELF is on record stating that they still do not know the truth??
- PBO Even if what you state might, in some capacity, begin to approach an open discussion or balanced debate, I can't speak for, or about, the decisions certain commission members made during an extremely difficult period. Perhaps you should be interviewing them instead of me. Wait, don't tell me; I was easier to track down than they were?
- CS Not exactly, sir, but let's be honest. You're the President of the United States, the leader of the free world, the buck stops with you.
 9/11 has been the pretext for the systematic dismantling of our Constitution and Bill of Rights. Your administration is reading from the same playbook that the Bush administration foisted on America through documented secrecy and deception.
- PBO Mr. Sheen, I'm having a difficult time sitting here and listening to you draw distorted parallels between the Bush/Cheney regime and mine.
- CS Mr. President, the parallels are not distorted just because you say they are. Let's stick to the facts. You promised to abolish the Patriot Act and then voted to re-authorize it. You pledged to end warrantless wiretapping against the American people and now energetically defend it. You decried the practice of rendition and now continue it. You promised over and over again on the campaign trail that you would end the practice of indefinite detention and instead, you have expanded it to permanent detention of "detainees" without trial. This far exceeds the outrages of the former administration. Call me crazy, Mr. President, but is this not your record?
- PBO Mr. Sheen, my staff and I authorized this interview based on your request to discuss 9/11 and deliver some additional information you're convinced I'd not previously reviewed. Call me crazy, but it appears as though you've blindly wandered off topic.
- CS Sir, the examples I just illustrated are a direct result of 9/11.

- PBO And I'm telling you that we must move forward, we must endure through these dangerous and politically challenging years ahead.
- CS Mr. President, we cannot move forward with a bottomless warren of unanswered questions surrounding that day and it's aftermath.
- PBO I read the official report. Every word, every page. Perhaps you should do the same.
- CS I have, sir, and so have thousands of family members of the victims, and guess what? They have the same questions I do and probably a lot more. I didn't lose a loved one on that horrific day, Mr. President, and neither did you. But since then, I, along with millions of other Americans, lost something we held true and dear for most of our lives in this great country of ours-- we lost our hope.
- PBO And I'd like to believe that I am here to restore that hope. To restore confidence in your leaders, in the system that the voting public chose through a peaceful transfer of power.
 - (An odd moment of silence between us. Precious time ticking away.)
- CS Mr. President, are you aware of the number of days it took to begin the investigation into JFK's assassination?
- PBO If memory serves, I believe it was two weeks.
- CS Close. Seventeen days to be exact. Are you aware sir, how long it took to begin the investigation into Pearl Harbor?
- PBO I would say again, about....two weeks.
- Close again, sir, eleven days to be exact. Are you aware, Mr.
 President, how long it took to begin the investigation into 9/11?
- PBO I know it must have seemed like a very long time for all the grieving families.
- CS It was a very long time, Mr. President four hundred and forty days. Roughly 14 months. Does it bother you, Mr. President, that it only took FIVE HOURS after the initial attack for Defense Secretary

- Donald Rumsfeld to recommend and endorse a full scale offensive against Iraq?
- PBO I am not aware of any such purported claim.
- CS I have the proof, Mr. President, along with scores of documents and facts I'd like you to take a look at. Here.
 - (I hand him another file much thicker than the first)
- PBO I see you came prepared, Charlie.
- CS No other way to show up, Mr. President. When in doubt, over prepare I always say.
- PBO Now you sound like the First Lady.
- CS That's quite a compliment, sir.
- PBO As you wish. Please continue.
- CS Sir, I'd like to direct your attention to the stack of documents in the folder I just handed you. The first in from the top is entitled "Operation Northwoods," a declassified Pentagon plan to stage terror attacks on U.S. soil, to be blamed on Cuba as a pretext for war.
- PBO And I'd like to direct your attention to the fact that the principle draftsman of this improbable blueprint was quickly denied a second term as Joint Chiefs chairman and sent packing to a European NATO garrison. Thank God his otherworldly ambitions never saw the light of day.
- CS I wouldn't be so certain about that, Mr. President.
- PBO I could easily say the same to you, Charlie.
 - (The President checks his watch)
- CS The next document reads, "Declassified staged provocations." Now honestly Mr. President, I wish I was making this stuff up. I'm certain you are familiar with the USS Maine incident, the sinking of the Lusitania, which we all now know brought us into WWI, and of course, the most famous, the Gulf of Tonkin incident.

- PBO Of course I am familiar with these historical events and I'm aware that there's a measure of controversy surrounding them. But to be quite frank with you, this is all ancient history.
- CS Mr. President, it has often been said, "Those who do not know history are doomed to repeat it." And I concede to you, sir, these events are the past.
- PBO A vastly different world, young man, shouldering a radically disparate state of universal affairs.
- CS No argument, sir, I'm merely inviting you to acknowledge some credibility to the pattern or the theme. Case in point, the next document in your folder. It was published by the think tank, Project for a New American Century, and it's entitled "Rebuilding America's Defenses," and was written by Dick Cheney and Jeb Bush. To quote from the document, sir -(The President interrupts)
- PBO "Further, the process of transformation, even if it brings revolutionary change, is likely to be a long one, absent some catastrophic and catalyzing event like a new Pearl Harbor."
- CS Touché, sir. Your thoughts on this statement, Mr. President?
- PBO I would call this a blatant case of misjudgment fueled by an unfortunate milieu of assumption. For some, the uninformed denial of coincidence.
- CS Interesting angle, sir. Nevertheless, Vice President Cheney didn't stop there. In early 2008, Pulitzer Prize-winning journalist Seymour Hersh and MSNBC both reported that Cheney had proposed to the Pentagon an outrageous plan to have the U.S. Navy create fake Iranian patrol boats, to be manned by Navy SEALs, who would then stage an attack on U.S. destroyers in the Strait of Hormuz. This event was to be blamed on Iran and used as a pretext for war. Does any of this information worry you, Mr. President? Should we just ignore it, until these realities can be dismissed years from now by our children and ancient history as well?
- PBO Of course this information worries me, yet it's not nearly as worrisome as you sitting here today suspiciously implying that

- 9/11 was somehow allowed to happen or even orchestrated from the inside.
- CS Mr. President, I am not suspiciously implying anything. I am merely exposing the documents and asking the questions that nobody in power will even look at or acknowledge. And as I stated earlier, I voted for you; I believed in your message of hope and change. Mr. President, I have come to you specifically hoping for a change. A change in the fact that our government has not yet made itself open and accountable to the people. These are your words, Mr. President, not mine. The lives of thousands who were brutally cut short and those left behind to suffer in infinite pain are with me today, Mr. President. They are with me in spirit and flesh, and the message we carry will not be silenced anymore by media-fueled mantras insisting how they are supposed to feel. Deciding for them, for 8 long years, what can be thought, what can be said, what can be asked.
- PBO And I appreciate your passion; I appreciate your conviction. In spite of your concerns, in spite of what your data might or might not reveal, what you and the families must understand and accept is that we are doing everything we can to protect you.
- CS Mr. President, I realize we're very short on time, so please allow me to run down a list of bullet points that might illuminate some reasons why we don't embrace the warm hug of Federal protection.
- PBO We've come this far. Fire away.
- CS Please keep in mind, Mr. President, everything I'm about to say is documented as fact and part of the public record. The information you are holding in your hands chronicles and verifies each and every point.
- PBO You have five minutes left. The floor is yours. Brief me.
- CS Thank you, Mr. President. Okay, first: on the F.B.I.'s Most Wanted list, Osama Bin Laden is not charged with the crimes of 9/11.
 When I called the F.B.I. to ask them why this was the case, they replied: "There's not enough evidence to link Bin Laden to the crime scene." I later discovered he had never even been indicted by the D.O.J.

- CS Number 2: F.B.I. translator Sibel Edmonds was dismissed and gagged by the D.O.J. after she revealed that the government had foreknowledge of plans to attack American cities using planes as bombs as early as April 2001. In August of '09, Mrs. Edmonds broke the federal gag order and testified under oath that Osama Bin Laden, Al Qaeda and the Taliban were all working for and with the C.I.A. up until the day of 9/11.
- CS Number 3: The following is a quote from Mayor Giuliani during an interview on 9/11 with Peter Jennings for ABC News. "I went down to the scene and we set up headquarters at 75 Barkley Street, which was right there with the Police Commissioner, the Fire Commissioner, the Head of Emergency Management, and we were operating out of there when we were told that the World Trade Center was going to collapse. And it did collapse before we could actually get out of the building, so we were trapped in the building for 10, 15 minutes, and finally found an exit and got out, walked north, and took a lot of people with us."
 - WHO TOLD HIM THIS??? To this day, this question remains unanswered, completely ignored and emphatically DENIED by Mayor Giuliani on several public occasions.
- CS Number 4: In April 2004, USA Today reported, "In the two years before the Sept. 11 attacks, the North American Aerospace Defense Command conducted exercises simulating what the White House says was unimaginable at the time: hijacked airliners used as weapons to crash into targets and cause mass casualties." One of the targets was the World Trade Center.
- CS Number 5: On September 12, 2007, CNN's 'Anderson Cooper 360' reported that the mysterious "white plane," spotted and videotaped by multiple media outlets, flying in restricted airspace over the White House shortly before 10 a.m. on the morning of 9/11, was in fact the Air Force's E-4B, a specially modified Boeing 747 with a communications pod behind the cockpit-- otherwise known as "The Doomsday Plane."

Though fully aware of the event, the 9/11 Commission did not

- deem the appearance of the military plane to be of any interest and did not include it in the final 9/11 Commission report.
- CS Number 6: Three F-16s assigned to Andrews Air Force Base, ten miles from Washington, DC, are conducting training exercises in North Carolina 207 miles away as the first plane crashes into the WTC. Even at significantly less than their top speed of 1500 mph, they could still have defended the skies over Washington well before 9 a.m., more than 37 minutes before Flight 77 crashes into the Pentagon. However, they did not return until after 9:55 a.m.

Andrews AFB had no armed fighters on alert and ready to take off on the morning of 9/11.

- CS Number 7: WTC Building 7. Watch the video of its collapse.
- CS Number 8: Flight 93 is the fourth plane to crash on 9/11 at 10:03 a.m. V.P. Cheney only gives shoot down orders at 10:10-10:20 a.m. and this is not communicated to NORAD until 28 minutes after Flight 93 has crashed.

Fueling further suspicion on this front is the fact that three months before the attacks of 9/11, Dick Cheney usurped control of NORAD, and therefore he, and no one else on planet Earth, had the power to call for military sorties on the hijacked airliners on 9/11. He did not exercise that power. Three months after 9/11, he relinquished command of NORAD and returned it to military operation.

- CS Number 9: Scores of mainstream news outlets reported that the F.B.I. conducted an investigation of at least FIVE of the 9/11 hijackers being trained at U.S. military flight schools. Those investigations are now sealed and need to be declassified.
- CS Number 10: In 2004, New York firefighters Mike Bellone and Nicholas DeMasi went public to say they had found the black boxes at the World Trade Center, but were told to keep their mouths shut by F.B.I. agents. Nicholas DeMasi said that he escorted federal agents on an all-terrain vehicle in October 2001 and helped them locate the devices, a story backed up by rescue volunteer Mike Bellone.

As the Philadelphia Daily News reported at the time, "Their story raises the question of whether there was a some type of cover-up at Ground Zero."

- CS Number 11: Hundreds of eyewitnesses including first responders, fire captains, news reporters, and police all described multiple explosions in both towers before and during the collapse.
- CS Number 12: An astounding video uncovered from the archives shows BBC News correspondent Jane Standley reporting on the collapse of WTC Building 7 over twenty minutes before it fell at 5:20 p.m. on the afternoon of 9/11. Tapes from earlier BBC broadcasts show news anchors discussing the collapse of WTC 7 a full 26 minutes in advance. The BBC at first claimed that their tapes from 9/11 had been "lost" before admitting that they made the "error" of reporting the collapse of WTC 7 before it happened without adequately explaining how they could have obtained advance knowledge of the event.

In addition, over an hour before the collapse of WTC 7, at 4:10pm, CNN's Aaron Brown reported that the building "has either collapsed, or is collapsing."

CS - Number 13: Solicitor General Ted Olson's claim that his wife, Barbara Olson, called him twice from Flight 77, describing hijackers with box cutters, was a central plank of the official 9/11 story.

However, the credibility of the story was completely undermined after Olson kept changing his story about whether his wife used her cell phone or the airplane phone. American Airlines confirmed that Flight 77 was a Boeing 757 and that this plane did not have airplane phones on board.

According to the F.B.I., Barbara Olson attempted to call her husband only once and the call failed to connect, therefore, Olson must have been lying when he claimed he had spoken to his wife from Flight 77.

CS - Number 14: The size of a Boeing 757 is approximately 125 ft. in width and yet images of the impact zone at the Pentagon supposedly caused by the crash merely show a hole no more than 16 ft. in diameter. The engines of the 757 would have punctured a hole bigger than this, never mind the whole plane. Images before the partial collapse of the impact zone show little real impact damage and a sparse debris field completely inconsistent with the crash of a large jetliner, especially when contrasted with other images showing airplane crashes into buildings.

CS - Number 15: What is the meaning behind the following quote attributed to Dick Cheney which came to light during the 9/11 Commission hearings? The passage is taken from testimony given by then Secretary of Transportation Norman Mineta.

During the time that the airplane was coming in to the Pentagon, there was a young man who would come in and say to the Vice President, "The plane is 50 miles out." "The plane is 30 miles out." And when it got down to "the plane is 10 miles out," the young man also said to the Vice President, "Do the orders still stand?" And the Vice President turned and whipped his neck around and said, "Of course the orders still stand. Have you heard anything to the contrary?"

As the plane was not shot down, in addition to the fact that armed fighter jets were nowhere near the plane and the Pentagon defensive system was not activated, are we to take it that the orders were to let the plane find its target?

- CS Number 16: In May 2003, the Miami Herald reported how the Bush administration was refusing to release a 900-page Congressional report on 9/11 because it wanted to "avoid enshrining embarrassing details in the report," particularly regarding pre-9/11 warnings, as well as the fact that the hijackers were trained at U.S. flight schools.
- CS Number 17: Top Pentagon officials canceled their scheduled flights for September 11th on September 10th. San Francisco Mayor Willie Brown, following a security warning from the White House, canceled a flight into New York that was scheduled for the morning of 9/11.

- CS Number 18: The technology to enable cell phone calls from highaltitude airline flights was not created until 2004, and even by that point, it was only in the trial phase. Calls from cell phones, which formed an integral part of the official government version of events, were technologically impossible at the time.
- CS Number 19: On April 29, 2004, President Bush and V.P. Cheney would only meet with the commission under specific clandestine conditions. They insisted on testifying together and not under oath. They also demanded that their testimony be treated as a matter of "state secret." To date, nothing they spoke of that day exists in the public domain.
- CS And finally, Mr. President Number 20: A few days after the attack, several newspapers, as well as the F.B.I., reported that a paper passport had been found in the ruins of the WTC. In August 2004, CNN reported that 9/11 hijacker Ziad Jarrah's visa was found in the remains of Flight 93, which went down in Shanksville, Pennsylvania.

At least a third of the WTC victims' bodies were vaporized and many of the victims of the Pentagon incident were burned beyond recognition. And yet, visas and paper passports, which identify the perpetrators and back up the official version of events, miraculously survive explosions and fires that we are told melted steel buildings.

- (The senior aide appears again beside the President whispering in his ear. He then quickly moves off.)
- PBO Well Charlie, I can't say this hasn't been interesting. As I said earlier, you've showed up today focused and organized.
 Regardless of how I feel about the material you've presented, I must commend your dedication and zeal. However, our time here is up.

(The President rises from his chair; I do the same.)

- CS Mr. President! One more second!
- (The President starts towards the door; I follow him quickly, step for step)

CS - Mr. President, I implore you, based on the evidence you now possess, to use your Executive Power. Prove to us all, sir, that you do, in fact, care. Create a truly comprehensive and open Congressional investigation into 9/11 and its aftermath. The families deserve the truth; the American people and the rest of the free world deserve the truth. Mr. President -

(He pauses. We shake hands.)

CS - Make sure you're on the right side of history.

(The President breaks the handshake.)

PBO - I am on the right side of history. Thank you Charlie, my staff and I will be in touch.

(I watch as he strides gracefully out of the room; the truth I provided him held firmly by his side, in the hand of providence.)

End.

Author's Note: What you have just read didn't actually happen... yet.

This is an open letter to the President requesting a new investigation.
